Main Theme: "Duststorm" by Lifeformed from the game Dustforce Undiscovery (Extra Game Track): "Undiscovery" by Lifeformed from the game Dustforce If you purchase the game, you will automatically unlock these tracks on the in-game music player, as well as the original Dustforce theme. My thanks go to Hitbox, and to the amazing developers of Dustforce: Satisfied Cogs, The Game and Thomas Chan, who got me into game music and sound design for this project. Thank you too to all my fans, who bought Dustforce and provided feedback, and to all the other incredible indie game devs for inspiring this sort of music. Enjoy! Rent [and the other one] Music is my living. I want to make great new music. I want to write great new lyrics. I want to play good new music. I want to meet new people and I want to travel around and play shows in bars and have stories to tell. And I want to leave your house thinking, I want to leave your house saying "Holy shit, I saw that show. That was great." I want to leave your house feeling like that's actually true. I want to go to my favorite shows in bars and leave thinking to myself "That was one of the best shows I've ever seen." I want to hear that in a back-row seat. I want to go to a show and see the girl in the florescent white t-shirt who's standing on the bar and she turns to the crowd and says "Thank you for coming." I want to see kids yelling and dancing. I want to feel that. And I want it to all be mine. I want to write songs and lyrics so that people feel something. I want to write music that I can leave at the end of my day and it's all done. I want it to be with me. I want to be able to pay the bills and think, "Ahhh, I made that." I want to be able to feel like I'm working toward something. Because, I guess, when I think about my career in music, there's just a sense of fear that keeps me from doing it. Because you know what you're gonna do when you grow up: you're gonna get a big fat job, and you're gonna make $50,000 a year. But you know what else? You're gonna have a lot of bills, you're Storyblocks is a puzzle game with a story, and that is the way we wanted to make it. We hope you enjoy it. It's our first game. If we can reach our goals, we want to make more. The links to our socials are in the description of this game. You are a young man, a king in search of his destiny. There are different paths to become the king, but to reach the end, you will have to find some clues. You also have access to 7 different tools, but you can combine them together to build the solutions. The different tools are: - Brick - Go to the next passage to solve a clue; - Box - Create a path to jump over something; - Laser - Reach a passage to unlock a new passage or an exit. You start in the middle of a forest, but there is a city in the north. To reach the city, you have to solve two tales first. Complete them to access the city. Once in the city, you have many achievements to accomplish, like visiting temples or help someone else. An extra bonus is that after each level is unlocked, you get an extra tool. If you want to do another level, you have to unlock it. There are 4 endings: - Good Ending: Be there by sunrise, be there be a surprise! - Sad Ending: Sad story, happy ending; - Fun Ending: Be there when the sun sets, be there be a surprise! - Dark Ending: Sad story, sad ending. There are also 3 books with variations of the story. We have a soundtrack for you that has been composed by Hayley There are 15 mobile platforms, Nintendo Switch and some consoles as well. We hope you like it! ***This game is free, and to use all the blocks, you can go to the store, but you'll need to spend some money. ***We have many ads in this game. ## What's new in All You Can Eat:

s Allura: Curse of the Mermaids is a 1994 surreal animation film directed by Shinya Tsukamoto and Mike Jittlov, produced by Jitsuro Ishihara and distributed by Hemisphere Entertainment. The film's plot centers on a young girl, Allura (voiced by Jane Horner), who is chosen by the mermaids to become an immortal mermaid due to her beauty. She is intended to provide a singer who is to be used as bait by the mermaids, but soon learns to use her mermaid powers to help the merpeople and the humans. The film's fundamental conflict is between the merpeople, who seek to obtain immortality for themselves, and the humans, who want to protect them from the merpeople. The film debuted in the United States at the Fantasia International Film Festival in 1994. A video game entitled Allura: Mermaid Moon Chronicles was released on the Super NES by Konami. Plot A mermaid race known as the merpeople is composed of two races: the fathers, who are aquatic and are bonded with their humanoid wives, and the daughters, who are aquatic and are temporarily bonded with male merfolk to prevent them from being taken by humans as their wives. Due to the merpeople's frail nature, their lifespan is roughly two hundred years. When a merperson is struck by sunlight, they are consumed by the sunlight and the merpeople start to die. To save themselves and their humanoid partners, the merpeople magically switch their human mates with their mermaid counterparts. Three merpeople named Old Fishman, Far Fishman, and Father Fishman are assigned to find the last surviving mermaid, named Allura, and rescue her, as well as their humanoid wives, Merri, Merlin, and Hermia. The merpeople believe that Allura is the most beautiful of them, and she is chosen by the merfolk as a singing bait to lure an imprisoned humanoid, Kiefer, from his water prison cell. The merpeople explain that a mermaid can only sing for a short period of time before she is disintegrated, but Allura's singing is of high enough quality that she can perform it once every three hundred years, and they believe that she can continue to perform for centuries more until she becomes one of them. Singing is a highly regarded merit in the merpeople's society, and Merri believes that allowing her daughter to be trapped in the human world as an isolated human rather than a merperson is a
