Page 3 of 6 Texas A&M, as a football school, receives a lot of exposure on national television. More and more, any time the Aggies play on ABC, NBC or ESPN, they are in the spotlight. And generally, it's not a bad thing. It's sort of like a water bill. You don't really think too much about it, you just get it, and figure that you're going to pay it eventually. You simply hope that it's not too late to stop it. That being said, and as the Aggies prepare for Saturday's game against West Virginia at Kyle Field, there are a few things you should keep in mind this week. STAY HYDRATED First and foremost, you should avoid drinking any alcohol this week, at least until this afternoon. Seriously, don't go anywhere near a bar or a party on Friday. The pressure that is going to build on A&M's coaches at this point in the season - and on the coaches that are going to be losing their jobs - is going to be extremely difficult to deal with. There's going to be a lot of talking, and there's going to be very little patience, which all leads to yelling, finger pointing and general craziness. Here's a quick recap of the last time this thing happened - the 2008 season. Simply put, it's not a good idea to be around it. You're not going to win. KEEP IT UNDER CONTROL Even if you've been drinking, you still need to keep it under control. Above all else, you don't want to be the guy that gets in a fight on Saturday afternoon. That's going to be absolutely excruciating. Maybe not physically, but mentally. There are going to be some coaches that can't do it and will lash out – that’s pretty much inevitable. You may think that yelling back or trying to reason with them isn’t going to make a difference, but then again, you may be right. It’s not going

Microsoft 70-464 is a suitable tool for all users who wish to practice and improve their knowledge of Microsoft SQL Server 2012 Database development. The application allows you to learn, as well as to get accustomed to the multiple answer choice test type. Each question features several answering options, out of which one or several are the correct choices. You can select the question categories, choose the queries by keywords, by the number of correct answering choices or simply randomize the tests. Each test ends with a mandatory review of all the questions, to rule out skipped items or incorrect answers. The program calculates your score and can generate a detailed report evaluating your answers. Several practice modes Self Test Training - Microsoft 70-464 features four modules that allow you to practice your skills at your own pace. The Learning Mode allows you to view the questions and reveal the correct answer(s) at any time. The Rapid Review and Assessment Test resembles the first module by allowing you to view the solution for each question. The Practice Mode acts as an exam simulator since it features a timer for each session and does not allow you to reveal the correct answer. You may only view the report at the end of the test. Prepare for passing the certification test
